CENTRAL ORGAN OPENED

Edward Kreiser of Kansas City Pleased a Large Audience.

The new organ in Murrell auditorium, Central College, was formally opened Friday evening by Edward Kreiser, organist and musical director of the Independence Boulevard Christian church of Kansas City. A large audience was present and manifested its unqualified approval.

The instrument is the product of Henry L'Her's Sons and is the most complete in Lexington. There are sixteen speaking stops, six couplers, four combination pistons, a balanced crescendo pedal, an electric blower and all the accessories desirable in an organ. It is well voiced and its stop arrangement gives opportunity for abundant variety of effects.

Murrell auditorium presents a handsome appearance now. The organ with its gold pipes and oak woodwork occupies the center of the stage. From each side has been projected a partition in wood to match the organ and flanking the instrument with beautiful Ionic pillars, the work of Walter Dunford of this city. There is still a blank space above these partitions; but this will be filled with iron grill work. The stage has necessarily been extended forward and the lighting of the hall has been greatly improved.

Mr. Kreiser's recital was excellent. Although he has never before played in Lexington, he is well-known here by reputation and many local music lovers have heard him play in Kansas City. His program was well selected and he made it more intelligible by explaining the various pieces before playing them. As he declared, the program was not popular—he knew of Mr. Conrad's work here and thought the audience could stand something heavy—but it was sufficiently varied to be pleasing all the way through. Every number received vigorous applause and part of the Bocherini Menuet had to be repeated; but the number probably the most meritorious was the Grand Fantasia on themes from Tannhauser. The arrangement is Mr. Kreiser's own and it is strikingly gratifying to those familiar with the orchestration of the opera.

At an informal reception after the program many took the opportunity to meet Mr. Kreiser.

The program follows:

The "Cuckoo and Nightingale" Concerto (Two movements) G. F. Handel
The "Clock" Movement (Fourth Symphony) Joseph Haydn
Suite in E minor Felix Borowski
Prelude
Meditation Elegy
March Solennelle
Andante from "Pathétique" P. Tchaikowski
Symphony "In Springtime" Alfred Holms
Fugue in D major J. S. Bach
Concert Caprice Edward Kreiser
Menuet L. Boccherini
Meditation (new) E. J. Sturges
Grand Fantasia on themes from "Tannhauser" Richard Wagner

Miss Lucy May Payne, who has been visiting in Higginsville, returned home Tuesday evening.

Mrs. Sallie D. Russell and Miss Fannie Duling went to Kansas City Wednesday for a few days' visit.

Judge James P. Chinn of Higginsville spent Wednesday in Lexington on business.

Miss Pauline Sellers returned home Tuesday evening from an extended visit in California.

Miss Chastain's Recital.

Miss Ruth Chastain delighted a large audience Monday night in the Lexington College chapel in the presentation of the writings of some of our famous authors. Miss Chastain interpreted with equal grace and exactness the two extremes of dramatic art—the modes of childhood and the dominant note of mature years. Her emphatical markings in the various numbers conveyed to the audience a true sense of the author's meaning. In "The Death Disk," the most exacting number of the program, she excelled. She made her audience see and feel those intense situations so vividly written by Mark Twain, and at its conclusion received an ovation that conveyed a sincere appreciation of what she had done. Miss Chastain's stage presence is charming. She enunciates distinctly and possesses a fine sense of appropriateness with interpretative instincts. Miss Chastain is deserving of the highest praise for her work in this department of the college.

Miss Chastain was ably assisted by Miss Ina Gibson, pianist.

The program follows:

"Lady Geraldine's Courtship" Elizabeth Browning
(a) "Canzone Amorosa" Nerin Chamikode
(b) "Les Sylphes" MISS GIBSON
(a) "Crossing the Bar" Tennyson
(b) "Apple Blossoms" Martin
"The Death Disk" Mark Twain
"Impromptu Op. 28, No. 3" Reinhold
MISS GIBSON
Act III. Scene I from "School for Scandal" Sheridan

Death of John F. Neill.

John F. Neill, a pioneer of Lafayette county, died at 6 o'clock Friday evening at his home near Higginsville. Mr. Neill was born in Lee County, Virginia, May 22, 1824, and was nearly 89 years of age. He moved to this county in 1837, where he has since lived. He is survived by four sons and two daughters. Mr. Neill was an uncle of M. D. and S. N. Wilson of this city.

The funeral was held Sunday at the home. Interment was in Higginsville.

Oscar Thomas to Waverly.

Oscar Thomas Monday completed a deal with T. R. Landrum for his general merchandise business in Waverly, and will move his family there in the near future to make it their home. He will take possession on the 26th and open for business on June 1st.

The removal from Lexington of these estimable people will be regretted by the whole community. Mr. Thomas has been active in the affairs of the city since he first came here as deputy sheriff. He has made friends by the score, and no doubt some enemies, but he has gained universal respect by his sterling honesty and unflinching courtesy to men, women and children in all walks of life. We know Mr. and Mrs. Thomas as neighbors, and ask for none better. May they prosper and multiply in their new home, is the wish of the Intelligencer and its readers.

The funeral services were held at the home of Mrs. Ransdall in Kansas City Friday morning at nine o'clock.

Miss Lydia Greer returned to her home in Higginsville Tuesday evening after a visit here with Miss Lo Hinesley.

James N. Price Seriously Injured.

Saturday evening about 6:30 "Jim" Price suffered a serious wound caused by his pistol being accidentally discharged. The bullet from a .38 caliber entered above the hip bone and passed horizontally through his body. The bullet fell from his clothing as he was being cared for. Mr. Price was conveyed to his home, where everything possible is being done to relieve his suffering. The injury is a serious one and his recovery is very doubtful.

Miss Mildred Swartz, who has been visiting in Higginsville, returned home Tuesday evening.

H. F. Campbell of Higginsville spent Wednesday here on business.

What Luck Do You Have?

It is not always "luck." When you get EGGS that are GUARANTEED, you cannot help but be satisfied. They are still saying it.

"Sixty-four chicks from seventy-three eggs, all look fine"—Henry McNeel.

"I want another setting of eggs this year you remember that this is the THIRD year I have bought eggs from you, and had splendid 'luck' with all—Mrs. Wm. Walker, Higginsville, Mo."

That is all, you had just as well get started NOW. Only 75 cents per 15 or $4.00 per 100.
